MEMORIAL DISTRICTS DISCUSSED

By BILL RODGERS

When the Tulare county board of supervisors this week postponed the deeding of county-owned property, purchased for a veteran memorial building, to the South Tulare County Memorial district, the matter of disposition of county funds raised for veterans memorial districts and possible future county policies in regard to veterans memorials was again brought to public attention.

Concerning the South Tulare district deal, the supervisorial action was taken in order to give time to insert a clause in the agreement that if the property deeded by the county to the memorial district is ever abandoned by the district, it will revert back to the county.

And a suggestion was also made that a time limit of 10 years for construction be set for all memorial districts that request their prorata share of existing county veterans' memorial funds.

Background of the situation is that at about the time World War II ended, Tulare county supervisors set up a county-wide, veterans' memorial tax, funds from

Prorate, Frozen Fruit Discussed

Intra state prorate for oranges and proposed California legislation concerning the handling of citrus fruits following freezing weather were discussed at a general meeting of the California Citrus Producers association held last Friday evening, in the Porterville city hall.

Previous to the open meeting, an all-day session of state delegates of the association was held in Porterville to transact business of the association.

At the evening meeting, Clark Schultz of Lindsay, second vice president of the association, spoke in opposition to the state lesgislature bill, A.B. 1577, which provides that the state director of agriculture be given power to halt shipments of citrus for a maximum of seven days after a heavy freeze.

Mr. Schultz, who, with Tom Strain of Lindsay, was in Sacra-

Canterbelles At Glenville

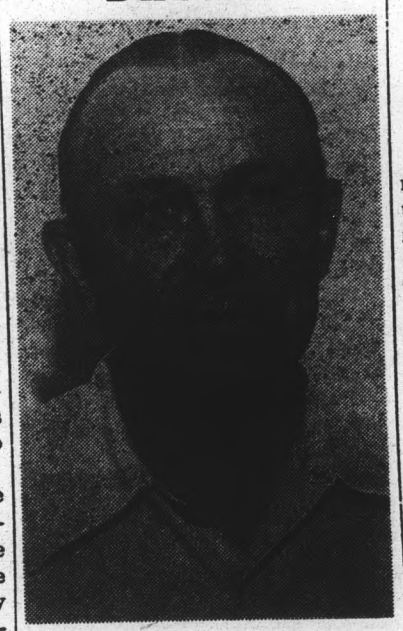

The Canterbelles, precision riding team of southern Tulare county girls, will appear as a feature of the Glenville rodeo that is being held in the mountain town next Sunday.

The girls ranging in age from 10 to 18 years, made their first public apeparance at the second annual Tulare County Junior Livestock Show and Community fair, held recently in Porterville. They are directed by Toni Faure and sponsored by the fair board of directors.

Roundup

Some 40 cowboys, genuine and otherwise, gathered last Sunday at the Avery and Ferguson Springville ranch to participate in an early summer roundup, assisting with branding, cutting and vaccinating some of the fine polled Herefords on the ranch. A barbecue dinner was served during the afternoon by the ranch owners, Omer Avery and George D. Ferguson.

RODEO FEATURES SAN JUAN DAY AT RESERVATION

A rodeo and barbecue will feature the annual San Juan Day celebration at the Tule River Indian reservation southeast of Porterville, Sunday, June 26.

Bronc riding, both saddle and bareback; team roping, calf roping and steer stopping will be included in rodeo events. Corrals and chutes at the reservation have been rebuilt and remodeled for this year's show.

The San Juan day, from a religious standpoint, commemorates the church feast of St. John. It has been a traditional day among the Indians for many years—a day originally for religious observance and meetings with friends, but in more recent years, including a public celebration.

District Hearing

Final public hearing on the matter of establishing the Porterville Irrigation district in the farm area just west of town, is scheduled for 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning, June 7, in the Tulare county court house, Visalia before the Tulare county board of supervisors.

Following the hearing, board members will decide whether or not to continue with district formation, next step in which is the setting of an election date by the supervisors, with residents of the proposed district to vote on whether or not the district will actually be formed.

Previous steps included circulation of district petitions, verification of signatures and land value represented, presentation of the petitions to the board of supervisors and the issuing of a statement by State Engineer Edward Hyatt that the proposed district is feasible and that an election should be held.

Lower Tule

An effort is being made this week by committeemen in the proposed Lower Tule River Irrigation district to put petitions in shape for presentation to the Tulare county board of supervisors next Tuesday morning in Visalia.

General boundaries of the proposed district include the Tule river water shed from the Porterville district west boundary to the Kings county line. Sufficient signatures of landowners in the proposed district have been obtained, however, a small percentage of property value is still needed.

New Association

Formed this week was the Friant Water Users association, an organization that is designed to include all irrigation districts using Millerton lake water, from the Chowchilla district on the north to the Arvin-Edison district on the south.

With formation of the new association, headed by M. N. Jensen, of Orange Cove, the old Tulare County Irrigation Districts association went out of existance. Clarence Bradford, of Terra Bella was president of this Tulare county organization.

BIGGEST COTTON CROP MAY BE GROWN THIS YEAR; FIELDS IN AREA LOOKING GOOD

A strong likelihood that Tulare county will produce its largest crop of cotton this year is seen by growers and ginners in the southern county area.

This optimistic statement is based on two factors: 1. Cotton acreage this year has increased from 10 to 15 per cent over last, according to unofficial estimates and 2. Stand of Cotton at the present time is excellent, with fields estimated as being from two to three weeks ahead of last year.

NO REPLANT

Better growth in fields this year has resulted from the fact that no replanting was required this season, while last year, as a result of wind and dust storms, a considerable acreage had to be replanted, thereby retarding development.

In addition, growers state that the hot spell several days ago, seemed to give cotton plants considerable boost.

Some ginners are now talking of the possibility of gin operation by the first of September, however, actual outcome of the season will still be determined by weather during July and August —cotton men looking for hot days and warm nights to produce best development.

Water Worries

No worse than an average year is expected as far as pest control is concerned, however, in some areas, cotton growers are worried about water supply.

In the 1948 season report of Agricultural Commissioner Oscar Hemphill figures show a 219,000 bale production for Tulare county cotton, with 82,464 tons of seed. Total return for cotton and seed was listed as 39,331,426.

MANAGER

ANDY MORRISON, who has taken over as new manager of the Porterville chamber of commerce. He has a background of 16 years of public relations and chamber of commerce work. (Farm Tribune photo).

New Manager Is Introduced

Being introduced this week to Porterville business men and to businessmen in the communities of southeastern Tulare county is Andy Morrison, new manager of the Porterville chamber of commerce.

Mr. Morrison, who came to Porterville from Upland, where he was manager of the Upland chamber of commerce, has 15 years experience in chamber of commerce work and in public relations, with his specialty being business organization and management. In connection with the latter field, he conducted a series of lectures at the Harvard school of business administration during the war

GREAT FUTURE SEEN FOR YOUNG TYRRELL RANCH QUARTER STALLION

If blood lines, general conformation and ability to more than hold his own in the toughest show competition mean anything, there is nothing but a bright future ahead for the young Quarter Horse stallion, Hi-Tip owned by Ralph Tyrrell and his son, Don Tyrrell, of Terra Bella.

Two weeks ago this horse showed that he has what it takes when he placed fifth in a class of 23 stallions at the semi-annual Pacific Coast Quarter Horse show at Pomona. A show that drew some 500 of top Quarter Horses in California, Oregon, Arizona, Texas and Nevada.

And this week, Hi-Tip is being turned over to Harry McKellips, of Porterville for training as a roping horse, work for which the Quarter Horse is particularly fitted because of his ability to start quickly and because of his general ruggedness.

Hi-Tip has plenty of breeding back of him, his sire being Tip Top and his dam, Pet, a noted Arizona Quarter Horse. His blood lines, through his sire, go back to the famous, Topper and through his dam to the well-known Miss Red Wing.

At the present time, the Tyrrells have six head of Quarter Horses at their Terra Bella ranch.

Flying Tigers

Possibility of air freight transportation of deciduous fruits will be discussed at a meeting of interested persons with representatives of the Flying Tigers Air Freight service at the Visalia municipal auditorium next Monday, June 6, at 2 p. m.

Bill Palmer and Sam Richardson of the Strathmore chamber of commerce have arranged the meeting.

SPORT SLANTS

By BILL WHITE, JR.

How's your volleyball game? Since the war (the shooting war, that is) there has been an increased interest in volleyball. Without cudgelling the brain cells, you can credit a lot of the activity to ex-service athletes. During the war, especially aboard carriers and on island bases, volleyball was a common denominator that got all the lads involved in good exercise. It required less space, equipment and talent than most other sports, yet it gave the boys lpenty of all-around exercise. Next to a hot parcheesi game it probably covers a wider age range than most any other sport. And the ladies can play it without developing shot-putter's biceps. In the hands of experts volleyball can run a western horse opera a close race for excitement; but at the same time a group of non-athletes can get a full load of fun out of the same game. No wonder it's becoming one of our most popular sports.

After a hot game of volleyball there's nothing like a cold bottle of beer. You'll find your favorite grand by the bottle or by the case at BILL'S LIQUOR STORE, 118 North Main Street. Phone: 627.

Junior Baseball Leagues Forming

newly named head of the Porterville high school physical education department and Porterville recreation director for the summer.

Nearly 400 of the young hopefuls turned out at Porterville Municipal field last Saturday morning to receive expert instruction from Tommy Lloyd, playing manager of the Porterville Packers and from several members of the Packer squad. In addition, Eddie Wheeler, manager of the visiting Mexicali Eagles was also on hand to give the juniors some pointers.

A second baseball school will be held at the Porterville field next Saturday morning, with members of the Porterville Packers to again be on hand to instruct and coach.

Several communities in the southern Tulare county area have expressed interest in sponsoring junior baseball teams, with present plans calling for two leagues in the city of Porterville—one for boys 11 and up, the other for boys 10 and younger, and a third league to possibly include the communities of Woodville, Cotton Center, Poplar, Ducor, Strathmore, Terra Bella, Lindsay, Pixley, Earlimart and Springville, in addition to an all-star junior Packer team from Porterville.

Service clubs and fraternal organizations are sponsoring the Porterville city teams that are now being organized, with a maximum of 17 boys on any one squad. Tentative plans call for the start of league play on June 20.

Boys participating in the baseball leagues will become members of the Knothole gang and will be admitted without charge to Porterville Packer home games. A special section of bleachers will be provided for them and Knotholers will carry official cards, now being distributed.

Assisting with the baseball league and the summer recreation program is Porterville Chief of Police Paul Finley, directors and players of the Porterville Packers, school officials and the city of Porterville through its recreation commission.

mento recently to meet with committees considering this bill, said that if passed, the bill would only add further undesirable control; that present laws protect the public as far as shipping frozen fruit is concerned and that the proposed law would work a hardship on growers. He urged all citrus men to contact their state legislators concerning the bill.

Dell Stephanson, of Riverside, spoke on a recently voted amendment to marketing order No. 66 that provides for prorate of oranges within the state of California. Mr. Stephanson said that through action of the C.C.P.A., an order by the secretary of agriculture establishing the prorate, is being held up pending presentation of grower petitions.

Mr. Stephanson said that a recent vote on the amendment does not represent a "grower vote," since cooperative organizations voted their growers in blocks. Stand of the C.C.P.A. is against intra-state prorate.

Sidney Pellew, of Orange county spoke on the importance of membership in the association and others who spoke briefly were: Mr. Strain, Joe Honus, former state secretary and Victor Bowker, of Porterville, state president of the association.

Roundup Queen

The fact that Porterville's 1949 Roundup queen is handy with a gun as well as a horse, was proved last week when Miss Joyce Cypert, the queen in question, killed a rattlesnake on the Bear Creek road above Springville.

Miss Cypert, after discovering the snake, "went for her shootin' iron," and the career of the rattler ended shortly thereafter. The snake carried 12 rattles and a button.

Next regular meeting of the Woodville chamber of commerce will be held June 14 at the Woodville elementary school hall, it was stated this week by Elmer Carr, chamber president.

Mrs. Marcus Jones Heads Republican Women's Group

Mrs. Marcus Jones, president of a newly-formed Porterville unit of the California Council of Republican Women, last Friday attended a meeting of the central division of the organization, held at the home of Mrs. Frank Lamberson in Visalia, at which State Senator J. Howard Williams told of the effect of Proposition No. 4 on tax increases in California.

About 65 women attended the Visalia meeting at the invitation of the Visalia Republican Women's club under the direction of Mrs. Florence M. Doe, Visalia, president of the council's division.

Attending from Porterville, in addition to Mrs. Jones, were: Mesdames Alice Farnsworth, Thelma Ridgeway, Jessie Burford, Lillian Matzke, Mary Coole, Erwin Gibson, Nell Pratt and J. Howard Williams.

From Lindsay were: Mrs. James E. Davis Jr., Mrs. Myron D. Lapliaw, Mrs. Ruth Whittlesey, Mrs. G. C. Stoddard, Mrs. Anna Kiggeus, Mrs. E. C. Rowe, Mrs. Florence M. Cowles, Mrs. J. C. Holworthy, Mrs. E. W. Owen, Mrs. Laura Cavins and Mrs J. C. McClure.

Utility Election Is Undecided At Woodville

Just who was elected to the board of directors of the newly-formed Woodville Utility district last week is still an unanswered question, since no candidates filed for the three directors' positions and since writein votes did not clearly designate whether the vote was for director No. 1, No. 2 or No. 3.

Top candidates in the balloting were Walt Sommer, Stanley Williams, John Sisk and Hugh Honeycut..

COUNTY CATTLEMEN TO ENTER SALE

Several cattlemen of Tulare county will show and sell cattle at the third annual show and sale of the California Polled Hereford association, set for the state fair grounds in Sacramento, November 11 and 12. Breeders are being urged to file their intentions to enter without delay in order that the selection committee, headed by Raymond Husted, can screen the proposed offerings.

JOHN REBER SPEAKS IN FRESNO

John Reber, instigator of the Reber plan of conservation of water now flowing into San Francisco bay, will speak in Fresno June 7 at 7 P. M. at a public meeting arranged by G. C. Briggs, Central Valley Empire association board member, at the Californian hotel.

DIESEL POWERED WIND MACHINE

Demonstrated at Lindsay last week was the Shaeffer, diesel-powered wind machine, designed to give frost protection to citrus orchards at a cost of 70 cents per hour. One machine was said to be sufficient for 20 acres of citrus.

Jamison, Pledger Turn On Heat In Theater Court

By BILL RODGERS

If you like a mystery, mixed with some sharp dramatic acting, just settle back in one of the not-so-easy chairs at Porterville's Barn theater some evening soon and listen to Coy Pledger, as a district attorney with prosecution in mind, match wits with Max K. Jamison, attorney for the defense in the Barn theater production of "Night of January 16th."

Mr. Jamison, actually an attorney by profession, and Mr. Pledger, a teacher, do a highly successful job in their respective roles and, if after listening to them build their cases throughout the play and after hearing their excellent closing arguments, you are sure in your own mind who killed the controversial Mr. Faulkner, or what really happened to the body, you're a couple of steps ahead of us.

Kaye Holmes, in the role of Karen Andre, is the center of contention (did she kill him or didn't she) and Mrs. Holmes comes up with a first class job of acting—by far the best that she has done in the Barn to date.

Eleanor Sanford, playing the role of Nancy Lee Faulkner, the widow, is convincing to the point of apparently real tears on the witness stand and a newcomer to the Barn, Ross Boyd, plays a good character role as the wealthy banker-father of Mrs. Faulkner.

A fine array of bit-part actors pass across the stage as witnesses, with Bill White stealing the show as Elmer Sweeney the cop and with Carol Norman turning in an excellent piece of acting as Roberta Van Rensselaer, a dance hall girl.

And John Vaznaian, as Larry Reagan, the gangster, is entertaining and convincing and Mrs. C. B. Allumbaugh, Esther Peterson, Carl de Baise and Al Raschiatore come up with fine character parts which went into a county fund that was to be later distributed to memorial districts as they were formed in the county, with the stipulation that the money was to be spent for veteran meeting places.

As districts have been formed, during the past two or three years, including the Porterville district, the Terra Bella district and the Lindsay-Strathmore district, requests have been made for transfer to county memorial funds, either as cash or as represented by land, to new memorial districts, however, no transfers have been made as yet.

Actually, the legality of the county turning money or land over completely to a memorial district, has been questioned, as well as the spending of general tax money to provide meeting places for specific groups.

Thinking of some memorial district board members in southern Tulare county has been that since district money is coming from a general tax, then that money should be spent for a "living" memorial, possibly in the form of civic auditoriums, open for public use, or other types of public facilities.

Apparent present thinking of the Tulare county board of supervisors is that the policy of the county concerning tax money now held for eventual release to existing memorial districts should be relaxed to the extent of allowing expenditures for public buildings rather than restricting to the originally intended veteran meeting places, and, at the same time broadening powers of the memorial district boards concerning buildings and planning.

Dropping in a bit of editorial comment, we believe that the matter of county policy on veteran memorial districts should be definitely established; that the accumulated funds should be apportioned to the existing districts as originally stated and that since the veteran memorial plans have gone as far as they have, the various districts get busy on their memorial facilities, make those facilities as nearly self-supporting as possible, then cut the memorial district taxes to a minimum.

And, we might add, certainly those facilities should be of a public nature, not solely for the benefit of veterans, since they will be built with general tax money.

MAY 25, 1889

On Tuesday M. T. Oakes, the man who drives Walt McKinley's carryall, was arrested by Constable Rose, taken before Judge Redd and charged with interfering with the officer in the execution of his duty.

The circumstances of the case appear to be that two half-breed, bob-tailed bulldogs of the tooth-and-nail order, belonging to a couple of our prominent citizens, met on the sidewalk near Manter's saloon on Tuesday.

They got into a little altercation about something, the particulars of which we could not find out; anyway it must have been something very serious, for, before any of the belligerent dogs' friends could step in and propose arbitration, these two doughty fellows got in and began to clean up the sidewalk with each other.

The fur flew and the bystanders flew whenever the dogs go too near them and the probabilities are that one or both of the dogs' souls would have flown too, had not Constable Rose put in an appearance, accompanied by a formidable looking garden rake, the handle of which he brought to bear upon the combatants with such good effect that an armistice was decided upon between the fighters.

Now, Jack Woodruff, who owns one of the dogs, objected to the constable striking his dog and stopping the fight, as Jack rather enjoys that sort of thing, pushed Rose to one side. The constable thereupon drew his gun and warned bystanders not to interfere with him in the execution of his duty, whereupon, the man, Oakes, came up and having some altercation with the constable, that officer arrested him immediately with the result as stated in the foregoing.

The case has been set for Monday morning, with T. J. Witt the prosecuting counsel and J. E. Shuey taking up the defense.

The Rev. James Wilson has been settled upon as the Presbyterian minister for the present for Visalia, Porterville and Plano. He will preach in Plano and Porterville every four weeks.

Russell and Hoover have closed their blacksmith shop in Pleasant Valley and have opened up a boarding house, feed yard and store.

Fred Kessing is starting a nice residence upder the spreading oak at Plano.

Thompson and Sons are expected to run daily stages between Porterville and Tulare after July 1.

A very pleasant entertainment, with refreshments and a dance, was given at the home of Hon. T. T. Hamlin at Tipton, for his son, Ed., who celebrated his 21st birthday.

There is to be an election of Porterville school trustees on Tuesday, June 4, 1889, to elect successors to fill the vacancies caused by the outgoing of O. A. Wilcox and P. P. Davis.

Perley P. Putnam has just completed making 200,000 bricks and will commence burning them about the middle of next week.

"Judge Kyle," the Wilks trotting stallion, will make the season of 1889 at Capt. Hayes ranch 12 miles east of Tipton and 6 miles southwest of Porterville.

The liquor license in Tulare county has been reduced from $75 to $40 per quarter.

Mr. Sigler, and aides, will soon have Uncle Johnny Baker's residence, on the hill at Plano, completed.

The Farm Tribune was declared a Newspaper Of General Circulation on January 10, 1949, by judgement of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Tulare.

THE PACKERS ARE CONTRIBUTING TO PORTERVILLE COMMUNITY LIFE

Two factors offer undisputable evidence that the Porterville Packers are contributing greatly to the life of the community: 1. The Packers are drawing good home crowds at the municipal ball park, in fact Porterville, the smallest town in the Sunset league, is putting more people in its park than any other league town with the exception of Mexicali and, 2. Some 350 kids of the community turned out last Saturday morning as members of a Knothole Gang to receive instruction in the fine points of baseball from Packer players as a preliminary to the formation of a junior baseball league, not only in Porterville, but in the outlying districts of southern Tulare county as well.

Perhaps the kid angle is the most important, since young boys who are interested in playing baseball and who are members of junior league teams are pretty apt to spend their time developing their hitting eye and throwing arm rather than in developing methods of getting themselves into trouble. And with this early instruction and actual playing experience, it is not unlikely that some future DiMaggios and Ruths are in the making.

So we want to compliment the directors of the Porterville Packers on providing some fine entertainment for the grown-ups and some fine recreation for the young ones and we want to also put in a good word for Tommy Lloyd, packer manager, and the members of this squad, who are working with the boys; also Porterville's Chief of Police Paul Findley and the new Porterville high school physical education department head and summer city recreation director, Carl Elder, who are also active in the boys' program.

All-in-all, the Packer deal looks good to us. Certainly the Packers have brought a healthy awakening of baseball in Porterville.

NOW IS THE TIME TO DECIDE ON STATUS OF COUNTY CHAMBER

Since the Tulare county board of supervisors is at present working on a budget for the 1949-50 year, right now is the time to decide whether or not the Tulare county chamber of commerce is to be supported by tax money.

We believe that it should not and we urge the supervisors to eliminate the county chamber from the county budget.

We say this not with the idea that Tulare county should be without a chamber of commerce, but with the idea that the realm of promotional activity is outside the bounds of governmental bodies.

And we further believe that if the county chamber cannot bring forth a program that will result in financial support on a voluntary basis then there is no justification for spending tax money on the chamber.

Let's have a county chamber of commerce, but let's have it strong enough and active enough to support itself.

The FARM ADVISOR Says

Agricultural Extension Service, Tulare County

Moisture is the basic reason for hay stack fires. This has been known for a long time but thousands of tons of alfalfa hay each spring are put up too wet. This year even some baled hay was opened up because of fire danger.

Brown apricot scale on plums is more prevalent this year than normal. Since this pest is easily controlled with oil sprays in the dormant season, growers should not neglect this phase of pest control next winter.

Soils are not improved by cultivation. Plowing, sub-soiling and cultivating should be limited to the minimum needed to produce crops.

Zante currants should be girdled during bloom to improve the set of berries and increase their size.

Selective weed killer oils may be used safely in celery seed beds in Tulare County. Stove oil is not considered as safe for celery.

Most citrus orchards will be in the best condition for petal fall thrips control treatments sometime within the next week. Information on available treatments may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Service Office, Post Office Bldg., Visalia.

Hatchery reports indicate very large hatches during the spring of 1949. In the United States the number of chicks hatched was up 25 per cent over the first four months of 1948. Because of this increase and likely lower prices, producers should strive to keep mortality down and efficiency high.

Cling peaches average less than proper size at reference date this year. Thinning should be completed by the end of the pit hardening period for best results in sizing fruit.
